

TWO NOVELS – TWO PATHS – A THIRD STORY

Titles (1 Oct 2026): THE TRAVELLER (Turkish: YOLCU; working title BEN YOKSAM) and THE WITNESS (Turkish: ŞAHİT; working title ŞAHİDİ ARARKEN). Both novels are currently available in Turkish.

MARKETING STORY, AMAZON KDP LISTING, TRAILER STORYBOARD AND LAUNCH PLAN

Books: THE TRAVELLER. 1453 — The Price of Awakening (Turkish: YOLCU – 1453 Uyanışın Bedeli; Tuncay Sancak) · THE WITNESS (Turkish: ŞAHİT; Mustafa Sefa Güvenir) Version: 1.0 · September 2026 · English edition; the Turkish edition is the primary one, the German edition has the same content.

1. CORE MESSAGE

An art project: two authors, two independent novels. Each can be read alone and ends on its own. Whoever reads both meets a third story that neither book tells by itself.

The shared scene: both novels narrate the same moment from two directions: a green room, three knocks on metal, someone asking for water, a hand making room for the glass, a taped thumb. The narrator of THE TRAVELLER remembers the scene; the writer in THE WITNESS writes it. Neither is sure: lived, read or written?

The cover language: placed side by side, the two covers meet in a fist bump. That image becomes one sentence:

Two Novels – Two Paths – A Third Story. Each one a novel in its own right. Read together, a third book appears.

One-liner: A black package at the door. A man in a clinic who no longer speaks. Two novels, one scene.

2. POSITIONING

	THE TRAVELLER	THE WITNESS
Genre	Mystical crime and psychological thriller	Sufi-psychological novel about memory and witnessing
Promise	Where does the thing that wakes you lead you?	Who is the witness: the one who writes, sees or reads?
Tone	Tense, investigative, inner voices	Conversational, warm, Sufi parables, clinical realism
Reader	Thriller and conspiracy-novel readers; readers critical of the ADHD/autism and "awakening" discourse	Spiritual seekers, Sufi literature, the psychology/literature intersection
Shared core	Remembering is not proof; witnessing is responsibility	Same

Audiences (by priority): 1. Turkish-language readers in Turkey and Europe (25–55), psychological thriller and mystical novel. 2. Turkish-speaking diaspora in Germany, Austria, Switzerland (German back-cover text and trailer). 3. International readers for a later translation (English back-cover text and trailer).

3. AMAZON KDP LISTING TEXTS

3.1 THE TRAVELLER

- Title: THE TRAVELLER · Subtitle: 1453 — The Price of Awakening. A mystical crime and psychological thriller
- Series: İki Roman – Üçüncü Hikâye (no volume numbers; the books are equals)
- Description (KDP HTML, English for a later EN edition; use the Turkish version in the TR listing):

How do you know that something exists?
Because you see it? Because you remember it? Or because someone tells you it exists?
One day a black package lies at the door: no sender, no address. The book inside tells of something that should not exist: him. His childhood, his fears, the memories he thought he had forgotten, and details no one could know.
With every page, 1453 turns from a date into a key, a red string into a symbol, and coincidences stop being coincidental.
Then a more dangerous question arises: What if the thing that wants to wake you is only leading you where it wants you to go?
Two Novels – Two Paths – A Third Story. THE TRAVELLER is a stand-alone novel. Read together with The Witness by Mustafa Sefa Güvenir, a third story appears that neither book tells alone.

- 7 keywords (≤ 50 characters each): turkish psychological thriller · mystical crime novel · inner voices memory · istanbul thriller · conspiracy awakening · black package red string · sufism and psychology
- Categories (3): Fiction › Thrillers › Psychological · Fiction › Mystery & Detective › Amateur Sleuth · Fiction › Literary
- Price idea: e-book 4.99 €/€; A5 paperback (260 pages) 12.99–14.99 € depending on KDP print cost.

3.2 THE WITNESS

- Title: THE WITNESS · Subtitle: A Novel
- Description (KDP HTML):

What does a person hide who no longer speaks?
Mustafa Sefa receives an unusual assignment: to write the story of a man who no longer speaks. But as he descends deeper into this man's past, it is not only the man's story that begins to waver, but his own reality.
Letters, lost time, a single word: the witness. What begins as research becomes a journey into the deepest layers of memory, identity and meaning.
Who is the witness? The silent man? The one who writes the story? The one who saw it? Or the person holding this book right now?
Two Novels – Two Paths – A Third Story. THE WITNESS is a stand-alone novel. Read together with The Traveller by Tuncay Sencak, a third story appears that neither book tells alone.

- 7 keywords: sufi novel · witness and witnessing · psychiatric clinic novel · memory and identity · spiritual search · typewriter and letter · modern sufi stories
- Categories (3): Fiction › Literary · Fiction › Religious › General · Fiction › Psychological

3.3 Shared elements

- Author page (Amazon Author Central): both authors, the project text, the panorama (cover/out/Panorama_Marketing_EN.png).
- A+ Content: 1) Full-width panorama: two covers, fist to fist. 2) Three columns: "Read alone" / "Read together" / "Find the third story". 3) Comparison table: genre, tone, question. 4) Four lines from the shared scene (spoiler-free).

• Cover files: cover/out/<BOOK>/EN/Fullcover.pdf (print), eBook-Cover.jpg (Kindle). Upload checklist in README.md.

4. TRAILER: STORY AND STORYBOARD

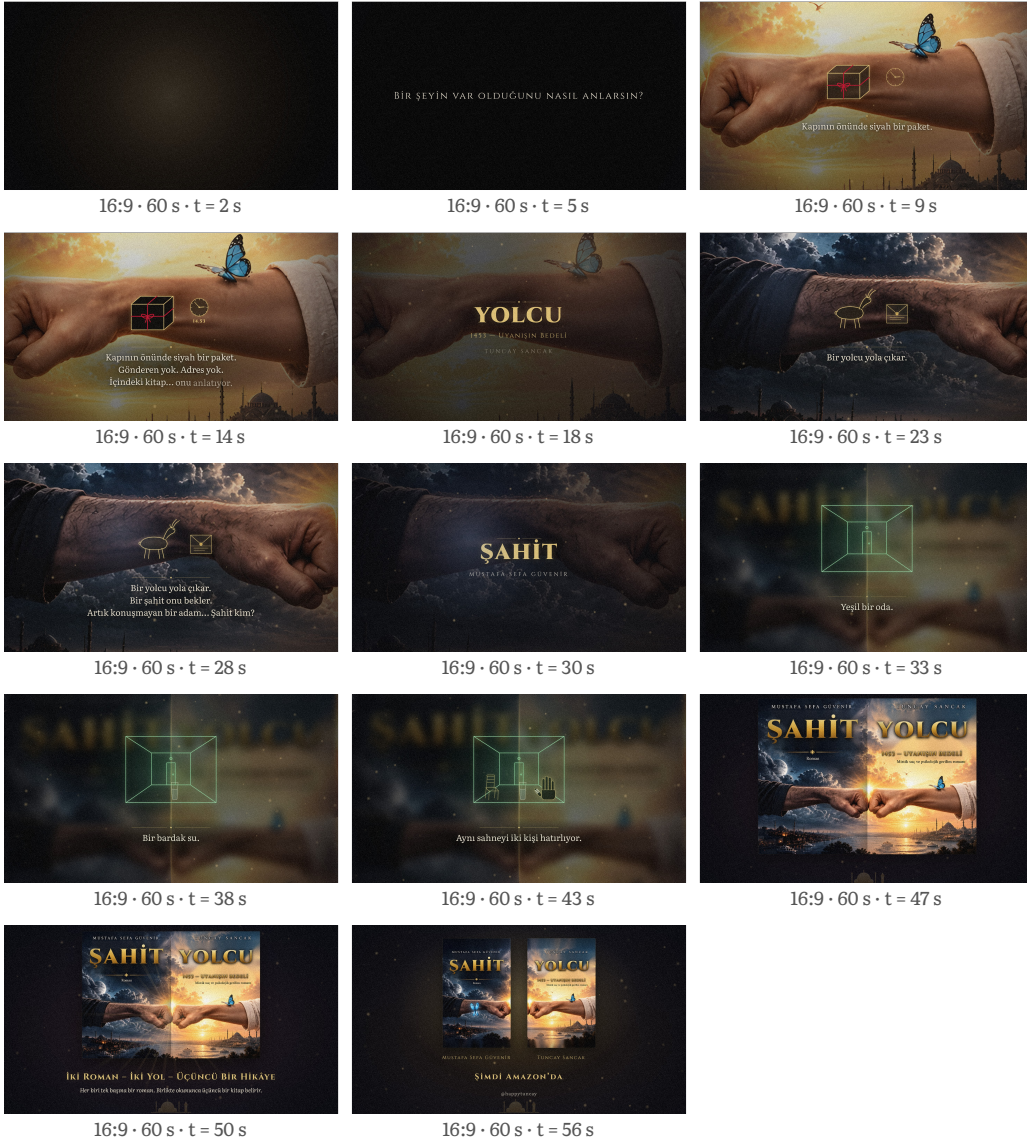

Rule: the trailer introduces each book on its own, then shows the shared scene, then brings the two covers together. The arrangement follows the cover logic: THE WITNESS enters from the left, THE TRAVELLER from the right; the fists meet exactly in the middle.

Formats: 16:9 · 60 s (YouTube, Amazon author page) — 9:16 · 30 s (Reels, TikTok, Shorts) — 1:1 · 30 s (Instagram feed). Three languages: TR / EN / DE. Files: trailer/out/

Iki_Roman_Fragman_<format>_<duration>s_<LANG>.mp4 + .srt.

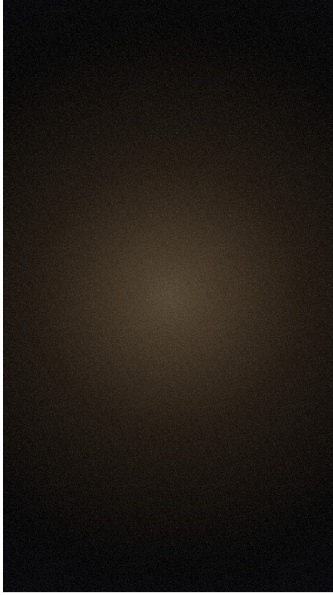

4.1 Storyboard — 60 s (16:9)

#	Time	Picture	On-screen text	Sound
1	0–7 s	Black. A warm flash and a slight shake with each knock. The question fades in at 3.2 s.	How do you know that something exists?	Three knocks (1.0 / 1.8 / 2.6 s). Deep drone.
2	7–19 s	THE TRAVELLER cover art; slow push from the sky to the fist. Below: drawing of a black package with a red string, a small clock at 14:53.	A black package at the door. / No sender. No address. / The book inside... is about him. → Title card: THE TRAVELLER · 1453 — The Price of Awakening · Tuncay Sancak	Pulsing bass, pad.
3	19–31 s	THE WITNESS cover art (cool side, moon). Drawing: a gazelle (the traveller), a folded letter.	A traveller sets out. / A witness awaits him. / A man who no longer speaks... Who is the witness? → Title card: THE WITNESS · Mustafa Sefa Güvenir	Soft pad, drone continues.
4	31–44 s	Split screen: left cool, right warm; a thin gold seam. One by one: room outline, three light knocks, glass of water, taped thumb, chair.	A green room. / Three knocks. / A glass of water. / Two people remember the same scene.	Three knocks again (34.0 / 34.8 / 35.6 s). Tension rises.
5	44–53 s	Both covers slide in from left and right; at 47.0 s the fists touch in the center; flash and sunburst.	Two Novels – Two Paths – A Third Story / Each one a novel in its own right. Read together, a third book appears.	Crescendo → deep hit at 47.0 s.
6	53–60 s	End card: both e-book covers side by side, author names, the butterfly crosses.	Now on Amazon · @happytuncay	Calm pad, 2 s fade-out.

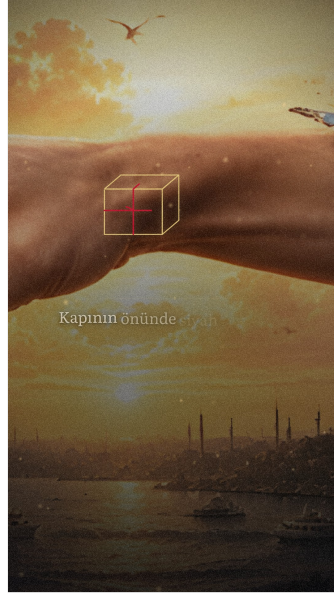

4.2 Storyboard — 30 s (9:16 and 1:1)

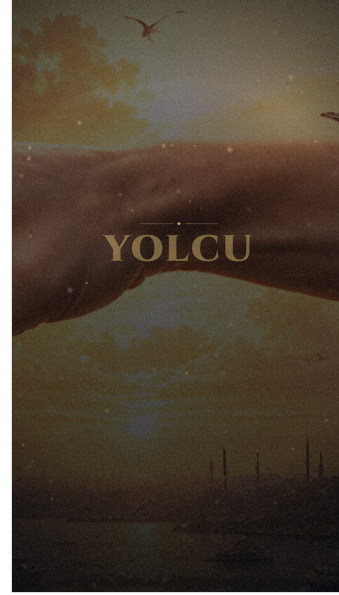

#	Time	Content

Delivery: 48 kHz WAV, -16 LUFS, one file per line. Mixed in with `ffmpeg ... -filter_complex amix` (command in trailer/README-trailer.md).

4.4 Music brief (for licensed music)

- Mood: dark, cinematic, heavy; a subtle ney or kanun texture as an Istanbul hint is welcome, no "oriental" clichés.
- Tempo: feels like 60–70 BPM, mostly drone and pad; crescendo 44–47 s, hit at 47.0 s (fists), then a calm resolution.
- Mandatory marks: three knocks at 1.0 / 1.8 / 2.6 s and 34.0 / 34.8 / 35.6 s (60 s cut); in the 30 s cut at 0.7 / 1.3 / 1.9 and 17.0 / 17.6 / 18.2 s.
- License: social media + Amazon + YouTube, worldwide, perpetual. The music in the delivered trailer is a generated placeholder and must be replaced before publication.

5. LAUNCH PLAN

When	Step
T-6 weeks	KDP accounts, ISBNs (free KDP ISBN or your own), categories and keywords. Order a print proof (cover colour, spine text, interior margins).
T-5 weeks	E-book pre-order for both books on the same day. Author page and A+ Content.
T-4 weeks	Trailer 16:9 on YouTube; 9:16 and 1:1 on social media. Post the shared scene as "two quotes from two books" (no spoilers).
T-3 weeks	Reader programme: 20–30 advance readers (ARC), asking for honest reviews.
T-2 weeks	One chapter read by each author (short videos).
T-1 week	Post "Which one first?" with the recommended order from the analysis report.
T	Publication day: both books at once. Live conversation: "How do two people write the same scene?"
T+1..4 weeks	Weekly rhythm: Mon quote, Wed behind the scenes (cover, fist, 14.53), Fri reader voice; monthly Q&A.

Social calendar, 4 weeks (short): - Week 1: cover panorama + tagline; 30 s trailer; "the black package" post. - Week 2: poll "Who is the witness?"; the typewriter scene; author portraits (cover photos). - Week 3: the shared scene, two paragraphs side by side; the sound of the "three knocks". - Week 4: reader quotes; post "for those who read both"; countdown.

Measurement: targets for the first 30 days — trailer views, Amazon product page visits, pre-orders and reviews; tracked weekly in one table.

6. RECOMMENDED READING ORDER

Recommendation: THE TRAVELLER first, then THE WITNESS. According to the analysis report, THE TRAVELLER leaves three threads that only THE WITNESS resolves: the man with the tumour report (ch. 50), the "second book that begins on the day you die" (ch. 46) and the namelessness of the writer. The reverse order works too, and both books invite a second round. Marketing uses this order as "recommended", always adding that any order works.
