

WHAT DOES A PERSON HIDE WHO NO LONGER SPEAKS?

Mustafa Sefa receives an unusual assignment: to write the story of a man who no longer speaks. But the deeper he descends into this man's past, the more it is not only that story but his own reality that begins to waver.

Letters, lost time, a single word: the witness. What begins as research becomes a journey into the deepest layers of memory, identity and meaning.

Who is the witness?

The silent man?

The one who writes the story?

The one who saw it?

Or the person holding this book right now?
